Riotous Scenes in an Irish Courtroom.

Bismarck and the Czar Agreed as to Bulgaria.

The Czar on His Way Home and the Kalser Journeying to Italy--Germany's Opposition to Mataafa.

Hippolyte Elected President of the Haytian Republic.

By Telegraph to The Times.

DUBLIN, Oct. 17.—[By Cable and the Associated Press.] The trial of Father McFadden and others for participation in the murder of Police Inspector Martin at Gween murder of Police Inspector Martin at Gwee-dore began today at Maryborough. If the Crown Attorney succeeds in his evident purpose of obtaining a jury of twelve Prot-estants, it will not be without many un-seemly disturbances. So violent were the protests today at the action of the Crown in dispussing every Catholic venicemen, that dismissing every Catholic venireman that the proceedings had to be suspended, pend-ing the arrival of a large force of police. Two jurymen were accepted by both sides, but were told to stand down when the prosecution was informed that they were Catholics. They became so enraged that they refused to leave, and had to be ejected by force. In the struggle that ensued, several hot-headed members of McFadden's flock took part, and for a time it looked as though a riot would result. A large force of police is on the way Maryborough from Dublin.

A BULGARIAN LOAN.

Its Significance as to the Balkan

Question.

London, Oct. 17.—|By Cable and Associated Press.! The announcement that German and Austrian bankers have finally made the loan to Bylgaria which the Gov-ernment of that country had been vainly seeking to negotiate for over a year, is a piece of information the political import-ance of which can scarcely be overesti-mated, when it is known that these same bankers had repeatedly refused to make the loan on the advice of Prince Bismarck the loan on the advice of Prince Bismarck himself, whe pointed out as the sole objection that no European power had as yet recognized the existing Government in Bulgaria.

The fact that the money was ready to be drawn upon within 24 hours after Bismarck's cenference on the subject of Bulgaria with the Czar, is accepted in Berlin as well as here as proof that a distinct understanding was reached which assured the pure subpure of Prince Pardinsnd's rule

WORLD'S FAIR.

A Paris Paper's Suggestions

the American Exposition.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—¡By Cable and Associated Press.] The Temps, in a résumé of the financial results of the exposition, says: "Before its close the number of people who will have visited the show will reach 26.000 000 cr men." ach 26,000,000 or more."

Referring to the proposed World's Fair in America in 1893, the Temps says it is by no means as certain as it seemed a month ago that the Americans will select New York for the location of their exposition, as Chicago is making strenuous efforts to secure it.

Commenting upon the availability of Chicago as compared with New York, the Temps says: "We wonder how many Chicagoans who crossed the ocean to visit the exposition in the first city of France would have taken the same trouble if the show had been in Lyons, our second city of importance."

alted States Senators Chosen

Two slited States Senators Chosen by the Legislature.

PIERRE (S. D.), Oct. 17.—1By the Associated Press. Both branches of the Legislature yesterday voted separately for United States Senators. In the House the vote was: R. F. Pettigrew, 108; Moody, 107; Bartlett Tripp, 14; M. H. Day, 14. In the Senate: Pettigrew and Moody, 41; Tripp and Day, 4. and Day, 4.

Senate: Fettigrew and alcoud, 11, 111py and Day, 4.

A resolution was passed asking Congress to make an appropriation for boring artesian wells, with a view to deciding the feasibility of artesian well irrigation.

The Legislature met in joint session at noon and proceeded to canvass the vote for United States Senators. They declared Moody and Pettigrew Senators, with rousing cheers. The body then adjourned to meet in January.

Edgerton's friends today commenced an active canvass for his appointment to the United States Judgeship, and secured indorsements of all members of the Legislature. Senator Mooily, Judge Edgerton and the State officers and members left this afternoon for Sioux Falls, where an immense celebration will occur.

Sued by Wanamaker.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 17.—Complaint was filed in the Clerk's office of the Superior Court of this county yesterday by John Court of this county yesterday by John Wanamsker, Postmaster-General, against Caroline H. Church and George Babcock. The complaint alleges that the first mentioned defendant is indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $1024, secured by a promissory not given at Philadelphia, June 8, 1885, and that payment of said note was afterward guaranteed by defendant Babcock. The note and interest now amount to $1335, and for this amount judgment is demanded as well as costs. Babcock is a prominent temperance orator.

THE JURY-FIXERS.

ANOTHER INDICTMENT AGAINST THE CHICAGO GANG.

The Investigation Again Draws Very Close to Alexander Sul-livan - A Witness Who Would Not Testify.

By Telegraph to The Times.
CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Great excitement prevailed about the Grand Jury rooms this morning. Witnesses came and went, and officers were dispatched here and there rapidly, and appearance of the control of the contro nces indicated that something important was in progress. The first witness was a man named Kelly. When he came out he refused to talk to reporters.

refused to talk to reporters.

Henry Stoltenberg, the stenographer in Windes & Sullivan's office, was in for haif an hour, and when he came out he rushed off in a great hurry to find Mr. Windes. After he had disappeared that gentleman made his way into the courthouse, and was examined by the Grand Jury. When he came out of the room he said to the reporters that he had not told the Grand Jury much, chiefly because he didn't know anything they

At 1 o'clock the Grand Jury came into court and handed in 12 indictments, 11 of which were on jail cases and the twelfth a joint bill against Mark Salomon, John Graham, Thomas Kavanaugh, Fred Smith, Jeremish O. Donnell, Alexander L. Hanks and Joseph 'Keenan. All the men were already under indictment for conspiracy to bribe jurymen.

After Mr. Windes left the Grand Jury room he asked State's Attorney Longenecker for an order to see Stotenberg. The State's Attorney wrote something on a card, and Mr. Windes went to his office where a policeman on guard refused to let him in. The attorney went away, but returned shortly with an application for a writ of habeas corpus, asking for Stotenberg's release. The matter was set for hearing at 4 o'clock, but, as in the meantime Stottenberg had been released, the application was withdrawn.

Stottenberg refused to answer any questions put to him before the Grand Jury until he could see an attorney. He declared he was unlawfully restrained of his liberty and that he could give no testimony under duress.

FRYE OF MAINE.

The Senator Speaks on His Favorite Theme.

The United States Should Annex Territory to the North.

And Establish Protectorates in the Pacific.

an Francisco and Other Ports at the Mercy of Any Third-rate Power

-Congress Must Act Promptly.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.— By the Associated Press. Senator Frye of Maine, who is at present in the city as one of the Senate Committee on Pacific Railroads, in an interview today said that in his opinion the matter of annexing Hawaii to the United States was neither entertained here nor there. But the Pacific Ocean would be the great water highway of the world, to be creat water highway of the world, to be great water highway of the world, to be plowed over by ships sailing under the American flag, and both the Sandwich and American flag, and both the Sandwich and Samoan Isiands were absolutely necessary to the United States, not especially to hold as part of this Republic, but to guarantee their absolute independence from any other foreign power.

As regards Lower California, he was inclined to believe that it would some day be a part of the United States. He said: "My search, however, for new territory on this continent would be to the northward rather than to the southward. I would look favorably upon the annexation of Canada."

"I am in favor of the closest possible commercial relations with all of the republics south of the United States, but I am not desirous of making them part of this Republic."

Senator Frye expressed the opinion that Republic."

Senator Frye expressed the opinion that the United States could maintain its exclusive right to the water of Bering Sea in the event of war, and afford protection to the seals, and she would not be likely to submit to Canadian aggression in the the seals, and she would not be likely to submit to Canadian aggression in the matter.

The Senator thought that the Pacific Coast should be amply protected by works of defense, and that a great foreign carrying trade, such as he predicted, necessarily called for a largely increased navy.

"I believe," said the Senator, "that a small nation like Chili can take the city of San Francisco any she pleases. Any of the great maritime nations of the world can levy contribution on every seaboard city in the United States, and could, if they desire, hold those cities for at least dive years. In other words, for the present, and until we can produce new guns and new ships, we are at the mercy of foreign powers."

He stated that there was no doubt that at the next session of Congress the appropriations for works of defense would be largely increased.

THE EPISCOPALIANS

nrasectory of the Canons, the Aduse were into Committee of the Whole on liturgical revision.

Several amendments were considered and adopted. The discussion on the proposed adopted of the Canons in the prayer book which has been passed by the bishops, but was not contained in any report, created a great deal of confusion, but the matter was voted down. The question of the adoption of the last prayer in the book was then brought up. Several speeches were made on this, and in the course of the debate, Mr. Handing, lay member from Missouri, objected to any more revisions. The only persons, he said, who will be benefited by the revision are the booksellers. Dr. Huntington closed the debate and the amendments proposed by the committee were adopted.

Tonight's session of the Board of Missions was occupied with a discussion of the million-dollar enrollment fund subject. 'It was finally resolved that subscribers to the fund may upon demand receive their money back if the demand be made within a year. At the expiration of that period the remainder of the fund, which now amounts to $85,000, may be expended for missionary work.

Mobs Busy Executing Them in the South. COLUMBIA (Tenn.), Oct. 17 .- [By the As ociated Press. A negro, name unknown, nder arrest for striking another man, was taken from the officer yesterday by the man's friends and strung up, but was cut down before death and taken away. Officers have been searching for him all night. It is believed he has been lynched.

MERICK REYNOLDS.

THE EX-MANAGER IN SERIOUS DIFFICULTY.

The President of the San Pedro Lumber Company Claims That He Stood In with Drane, the Absconding Book-keeper, and Misappropriated Funds.

A dramatic episode occurred before the Board of Supervisors yesterday af-ternoon, which brought to the surface a heretofore unrevealed chapter in the management of the San Pedro Lumber Company, and caused a clash between Merick Reynolds, its former manager, and Detective Lawson.

While the board was in session, Dunsmoor, County Clerk, came up and asked instructions as to whether or not he should show a certain bill presented and sworn to by Merick Reynnot he should show a certain bill presented and sworn to by Merick Reynolds, to the newspaper reporters. While he was speaking, Mr. Reynolds appeared and requested permission to speak a few words.

He remarked that a bill of the San Pedro Lumber Company, over a year old, had been called in question, and if given to the newspapers it would undoubtedly do him serious injury, and no one had been injured by a mistake which had occurred.

The document itself was then produced, and proved to be a bill of the San Pedro Lumber Company for lumber furnished to the Wilmington road district. The bill was in two sections. One account, itemized, was dated September 3, 1888, and was for $24.55; the second was for $33.03. The two bills were attached and the affidavit of Mr. Reynolds sworn to before Deputy Clerk Frank Lowry, accompanied them. The trouble with the bills was that in the one for $33.03 a figure 1 was placed before the first 3, making the amount $133.03 instead of $33.03, as the items footed up. This was carried into the affidavit, and Mr. Reynolds swore to that amount in it. Mr. Lowry called the attention of the Board of Supervisors to the discrepancy, and the accounts were laid over from September until December, 1888, when the correct amount called for by the item was allowed by the board and lapaid.

Mr. Reynolds said that there is no when the correct amount called for by the item was allowed by the board and paid.

Mr. Reynolds said that there is no doubt that he made the raise in the bills himself, and thinks he did so because there was a faint figure 1 before the 3, and he made it plainer, at the time he made the affidavit. He said that the company has had a thousand bills before the board and this and one other are the only ones which have been questioned. He felt that a clerical mistake like this, under the circumstances, would do him great injury to be published. He further said that the person who desires the publication has the object of injuring him.

Mr. Reynolds was asked several questions by members of the board and stoutly insisted that the matter was only a mistake on his part.

Detective Lawson appeared somewhat restive under the remark made by Mr. Reynolds that some one was attempting to injure him, and finally made a few remarks himself, which were in the nature of a paralyzer on Mr. Reynolds, for he made no reply to them, contenting himself with saying that it was not the proper place for him to say anything.

Mr. Lawson stated to the board that, while there might not be much in the bill matter, still in view of other developments that matter has become significant. He said that Mr. Reynolds had said accounts. Also that he has been circulating the report that the company exacted this security, which is not true; and that the investigation of his accounts is now being made by an expert. This he simply desired to say in answer to what Mr. Reynolds had said at omplete investigation of the books was begun by an expert accountant. They have been taken up from the inauguration of the business of the company, in 1882, and all along down the line a systematic course of falsifying the accounts has been found to exist. The falsification includes the pay-roll and all accounts where falsification was possible. Reynolds was the general manager of the company, and Drane was the book-keeper. It has been learned that a number of instances have been discovered in which the money was traced directly to Reynolds's pockets, and, upon being confronted with the evidence, he has in a number of instances acknowledged the matter. It has been known for a month past that Reynolds was implicated.

J. A. Hooper, president of the company, was seen last evening by a reporter, but was reluctant to talk about the affair. He says that he does not want to attract sensational attention to the case by long publications in newspapers. When asked whether or not it is true that Mr. Reynolds has acknowledged thathe has taken money belonging to the company, he replied that he has done so, and that he has been discharged. L. W. Blinn having taken his place. When asked what is the nature of the

When asked what is the nature of the defalcation, he said that it consists in falsification of the pay-roll and numerous items running back for five years.
"Do you know whether or not Mr. Reynolds and Drane were together in their operations."

"You can draw your own inference.
Drane knew that Reynolds's orders were wrong when he made the entries.
Yes, Drane was a good book-keeper."
"It has been said that Mr. Reynolds

"It has been said that Mr. Reynolds says the company exacted the security from him, which he has given."

He has been trusted absolutely by the company, as Drane was also, and the discovery that he is mixed up with Drane in crookedness could hardly be believed by Mr. Hooper until he was convinced of it. The company has taken no steps as yet toward any criminal proceedings against Reynolds, as they feel that they are amply secured for such shortage as will be found to exist, and wish to find out exactly how the books stand.

THE SHORTHAND MEN.

The Lawyers' Committee Makes a Sudden Adjournment.

The Grievance Committee of the Bar Association met last night to resume the investigation of the short-hand reporters. The meeting was in the Law Library, and the doors were again closed against newspaper refor consultation. They were closeted for a few minutes and then returned to the room in which the shorthand men and witnesses were present.

It was announced that the committee had decided not to take any testimony at that time, and it adjourned at once without the examination of any witnesses. Those present were somewhat nonplused over the sudden action taken; but the committee doubtless had good reasons for pursuing the course marked out.

As one result of the action of the Bar Association heretofore taken in the matter of the methods of certain of the shorthand men, Judge Wade yesterday inaugurated the rule that reporters' fees must be paid to the clerk of the court, and not directly to the reporters' fees must be paid to the clerk of the court, and not directly to the reporters themselves. This is done to regulate the payment of the $10 per diem allowed reporters, and make a satisfactory and legal apportionment of that amount, where a reporter has more than one case in a day. One of the abuses charged has been that C. T. Rutan and his associates have charged more than the $10 per diem where they have had more than one case in a day. Whether this be true or not Judge have had more than one case in a day.
Whether this be true or not Judge Wade has started the new method in his court, of which Mr. Rutan is the official reporter, in order to meet the

It is also understood that Mr. Ham-ilton, one of the shorthand men who has been working in connection with C. F. Rutan and his associates, has re-cently been given a more satisfactory arrangement.

It is quite probable that the investigation started on foot will result in a more just and equitable basis for the members of the Rutan combination, if it accomplishes nothing else.

The Grievance Committee had not decided last night, after the adjournment of the meeting, when it would meet again, but, as the Bar Association meets on Saturday, it will probably be before that time.

He was thrown from the buggy and his collar-bone fractured, he being laid up from the accident for nine weeks, and being still unable to work.

LOUIS RICHEMONT ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

le Stuck a Knife Nine Inches Into Martin Winters, Piercing the Heart-An Unfaithful Woman the Cause of Trouble.

The trial of Louis Richemont began before Judge Shaw yesterday, and promises to be very sharply contested. He is accused of murdering Martin Winters at San Pedro, July 22d last. He is represented by Messrs. Shinn, Edgerton and Ling, and the prosecu-tion is conducted by Mr. Hardesty. The entire morning was occupied in securing a jury, the panel of 30 jurors being used up in the attempt. The taking of testimony began at 2 o'clock. The particulars of the murder were given at the time by THE TIMES, and are briefly as follows: Winters was first mate on the schooner Jessie Minor. A notorious woman named Pearl Hinton had lived with him at San Pedro, and while he was away on a voyage formed a liaison with Louis Richemont. When Winters returned to San Pedro he discovered the trick played on him, and went to Richemont's house. on him, and went to Richemont's house. A row ensued between the men, and Winters was stabbed in the heart, death resulting almost instantaneously. His arrest took place a few minutes afterwards. The Coroner's jury returned a divided v-dict. Coroner Meredith and three of the jurors signed a report charging Richemont with the murder, while five others signed a report that he killed Winters in self-defense.

murder, while five others signed a report that he killed Winters in self-defense.

The first witness called was Dr. W. A. Weldon, who described the wound. He said that the knife entered under the ribs, and was an up-cut, piercing the heart; also that it was nine inches deep. This was the only cut he found, although there were several bruisss on the face.

James Adams, a colored man, was then examined. He testified that he was on Front street in San Pedro the evening of the shooting, and took several drinks with Winters. Shortly after 6 o'clock he went up with Winters to the Richemont house. Before they reached the door they separated, and Adams started for his own house, about 40 or 50 feet distant. He had only gone a part of the distance when he heard a groan from Richemont's house, and turned back. When he got to the door he saw a man named Shorty at the door. Pushing in, he saw Winters lying on the bed and Richemont standing up on the bed atriking at him with a knife. He made a grab at his hand, but missed it, stopping the blow, however. Then he hit Richemont, knocking him down. He took the knife away from him, telling him he had killed Winters. To this Richemont replied no, he had not. At this moment Constable Morrison came in and arrested "all the parties. On cross-examination 'Adams could not be swerved from the story he told, although some slight discrepancies were shown between his present testimony and that given before.

story he told, although some slight discrepancies were shown between his present testimony and that given before.

Constable George Morrison testified that he was standing on Front street, when Pearl Hinton came running down and said Richemont had killed Winters. The Constable went at once to the house, not far distant. It was dark in the room, but by the reflection of an electric light he saw two men struggling in the corner. They were Richemont and Adams. He took the knife from Adams, and placed them under arrest. Going out he stumbled over Winters, who was lying dead on the floor, his feet on the bed. He remained all night with his prisoner and the next morning, while going to court, Richemont gave his version of the killing. He said that Winters came in and they had some words; that Winters then began to "thump" him, and got him down on the bed. Richemont presched under the bed where he kept his knife, and told Winters to stop or he would stick the knife in him. Winters did not stop, and Richemont pulled out the knife and stuck it into him as he had threatened. The Constable said that he noticed a pistol on Winters as he lay on the floor. It was stuck in his trousers belt, and his vest was buttoned over it, showing that it had not been drawn.

The people of the Cahuenga Valley have formed a producer's union, the object of which is "the mutal advantage of its members by providing ways and means for the disposal of the products of their several occupations.' A series of resolutions adopted at a meeting held on the 15th inst., is epitomized as follows.

The first as follows. The first resolution sets fourth that the suspension of the Cahuenga road works a great hardship to the people living along the line.

Second, that people who have improved property in the valley under the belief that the road would run are greatly damaged.

Third, that innocent persons are damaged, and that the suspension was procured at the instance of speculators in the West End Board of Trade.

Resolutions then followed which set forth that the citizens of Cahuenga Valley have acquired an interest in the road, and, as they have some to depend upon it, they have some rights in the matter, independent of the large donations mode. ent of the large donations made by certain of their people. They conclude by asking that the matter be brought before the Supreme Court by the officers of the road and the proper law officers of the county as soon as possible.

The ladies' equestrian contest will take place on Wednesday afternoon, the 23d. It is in consideration to change the usual mode of conducting these contests by adding some novel features, giving the ladies an opportunity of showing their skill as well as the training of the horse.

An excellent band or music will be in attendance every day.

The splendid exhibition of thoroughbred and standard stock will be open for inspection all the time. The date for the grand stock parade has not yet been fixed, but will probably be Thursday. It will be a sight worth witnessing. The time and details of the parade will be announced in due time. The entries of thoroughbred stock up to this time exceeds those of any former years.

The entries of thoroughbred stock up to this time exceeds those of any former years.

Good roads are essential at all times, but, thanks to the city and county authorities, the streets and highways leading to Agricultural Park have had especial attention paid to them during the past few days, and are now in splendid condition. Those who go to the park in carriages will escape the intolerable clouds of dust so annoying in years past.

Some important changes have been made in the speed programme for the races next week, and horsemen should take notice of the fact. It was found advisable to change the day of some of the trots, which has necessitated a change in the numbers of the races. This is a right always reserved by racing associations, and is used only in cases where the best interests of all are to be subserved. These changes will enable horses now entered to trot in but one fast race to be put into such specials as may be arranged. A special circular has been printed and sent out to all interested parties.

The entries for the stock exhibition will not close until Monday evening at 6 o'clock, and accommodations will be arranged for all comers. It will save much delay and consequent annoyance if exhibitors make their entries and secure their stalls or pens by Saturday at latest.

There has never been an exhibition cure their stalls or pens by Saturday at latest.

There has never been an exhibition in Los Angeles where the managers have taken so deep an interest in the details of its affairs as they have this year. Especially is this true of President Lichtenberger and Director Al Workman. These gentlemen have devoted nearly their entire time for the past three months to making the fair a complete success. The public should do the rest.

The directors of the District Association invite all who take an interest in such matters to visit the park between now and Monday morning and give the grounds and the whole arrangements and surroundings a thorough inspection. The directors take pride in their work and are confident that their handling of the splendid property will be appreciated by all. It costs something to be a director in such an association, and all the compensation they get is the satisfaction of having discharged their duty in all respects and the privilege of paying a high price to its.

Board of Public Works

The Board of Public Works enjoyed quite a ride over town yesterday. The members were driven to East Los Angeles first, and spent over an hour examining the streets of that flourishing portion of the city. They were joined by Councilman Van Dusen and Joseph Mesmer, who took a deep interest in showing the board around. East Los Angeles is being improved rapidly, and geles is being improved rapidly, and the board made up its mind yesterday to do everything possible to assist the good work. Truman and Hellman streets, be-tween Downey avenue and Hawkins street, should be graded, and the board decided to send in a recommendation to the Council.

Daly street, between Downsy avenue and Hawkins street, was examined and as the property-owners are anxious to have it graded, the board will take steps to have it done.

and the board will send in a recommendation that it be graded as soon as possible.

Councilman Van Dusen is very anxious to have Vallejo street filled, but as the street has not been accepted by the city the board will not take any steps at the present time. The street is in a frightful condition and something should be done at once.

The levee at the Kuhrtz-street bridge is in a bad condition, and if there is high water this winter a large portion of the city above the water front will be flooded. The bulkhead was put in by the Santa Fé Company, and the City Attorney will be instructed to take steps to have the break repaired. On the East Los Angeles side of the bridge there is a deep hole where stagnant water accumulates, and as the land is owned by private parties, the Health Officer will be asked by the board to look into the matter.

The board then drove through the city to Seventh street, west of Hill, where it is being graded. This street will be one of the finest driveways in the city, but it is hardly wide enough in the western part, and the board is of the opinion that it should be widened before it is built up. At present only two or three houses have to be moved back.

The board drove out Seventh street two or three houses have to be moved back.

The board drove out Seventh street to Westlake Park. Work on the park is progressing rapidly. The street is built on the dam, which is not as wide as it should be, and the board will take steps to have it widened. This should be done, not only to widen the street, but also for the purpose of strengthening the dam, as there is considerable danger in case of high water.

The drain where Whitmer street crosses Seventh is not sufficient to carry off the water during the rainy season. The City Engineer will be instructed to enlarge the drain.

The board was then driven back to Fourth and Hope streets. Fourth is being cut through and the house to the board ware to have met them, but they did not show up and the board knocked off for the day.

The afternoon was taken up with the introduction of testimony to prove that the will and signature are not in the handwriting of the deceased. Mr. Field and Mr. Guthrie both swore positively that they are well acquainted with the handwriting of the deceased, and that the will and signature are not his. They were examined at great length, and on cross-examination went into a minute investigation of the peculiarities and differences of the handwriting in question. The case will probably last a day or two longer.

A DISPATCH announces that Hippolyte has been unanimously elected President of Hayti. There is some thing suspicious about these "unani-mous" elections.

THE distinguished English author, Sir Edwin Arnold, who has been very hospitably entertained in San Francisco, sailed yesterday for Japan. Sir Edwin is an admirer of the United States, and will undoubtedly do us justice should he write a book about his trip.

PARAGUAY, away down towards Cape Horn, is always regarded as a country beyond the confines of civilization, yet it is quite possible that Paramay get a beet-sugar factory while Los Angeles is talking about one. That distant country is said to be negotiating with parties in California for the establishment of an immense sugar-beet farm.

ARRANGEMENTS are being made to land the eastern mails in San Francisco ten hours earlier than at present. It is a wonder that such a step as this has not been taken before, considering the demand for fast travel. It ought to be quite feasible to land a passenger in Los Angeles from New York within four and a half days. The run of three and a half days across the continent by the Jarrett and Palmer train in 1876, has, we believe, never since been equalled.

WHILE a majority of our vineyardists are complaining that grapes at present prices do not pay, and are-many of them-pulling up their vines, there are at least some who are receiving big money for their product, and are increasing their acreage. These are the vineyardists who have choice table grapes. A Sacramento firm of grape-growers recently sold in New York a car of Mus-cat, Tokay and Cornicheon grapes at a price which netted them about $125 a ton on the vines, or over 6 cents a pound, over all expenses. Another Sacramento county grower has received, in several instances, from $150 to $200 a ton above all expenses for his grapes on the vines. These grapes are all grown with the aid of irrigation. Such examples point a moral to those of our grape growers who are in the dumps.

NORTH AMERICA now has several transcontinental railroads, but the first one from ocean to ocean south of It is expected that it will be finished The passage of the Andes is a more difficult task than that which presented itself to the builders of our transcontinental lines, when they came to the backbone of the continent. The Transandean Railroad, which was commenced nineteen years ago, is to run from Buenos Ayres to Valparaiso, a distance of 871 miles. It is much shorter in distance than any of our transcontinental lines, but with more climbing to do. The passage of the Andes is accomplished at the Cumbre Pass, which is 13,015 feet above sea level. The railroad, however, crosse by means of a tunnel, more than three miles long, at an elevation of 10,450 feet above the sea, 402 feet lower than the highest point on the Denver and Bio Grande in Colorado.

THE BOOM UP NORTH.

The Puget Sound cities-Tac and Seattle—appear still to be enjoying a sort of a boom, although they must have almost reached the limit which Los Angeles touched in August, 1887, to judge from the prices asked there for real-estate. Of course the Puget Sound real estate dealers and specu-lators are thoroughly confident that the present condition of affairs will last indefinitely. So were our people, a little over two years ago. Now, they have "learned the mathematical fact that an undue elevation is bound to be followed by a corresponding depression. Tacoma is a city of about 25,000 population. A correspondent of the Washington Star who is not "bearing" the city, but, on the contrary, appears to be enthusiastic about it, has the following to say in regard to the real following to say in regard to the real estate value there:

Land in the city is very high, ranging in price from $1500 to $60,000 per lot. I found no lot offered for saie within the city for less than $1500. Nearly all of the lots are 25 by 120 feet. The country extending back, probably four miles, is all divided into city lots, which sell for from $500 to $1000 per lot. Not a foot of land can be bought on the point of land on which Tacoma is situated for less than $500 per acre, and out at American Lake, twelve miles distant, they ask $1000 per acre for land. Fortunes have been made in these lands within the last few year.

We know all about this in Los An geles. We have been through the mill. A day of reckoning will come for the Puget Sound boomers, as it did for the Los Angeles speculators, who grew rich so rapidly—in their minds.

We would not, however, be under stood as saying that such a reaction will be permanent on the Sound, any more than it will be with us in Southern California. Washington Territory's resources are different from ours, but they are indubitably great and sufficient to build up large cities on the Sound. They have timber and mineral and a magnificent harbor, all of which will remain with them, boon or no boom.

The ultimate future of that section admits of no question. It is with the proximate future of the cities to which the development of Washington's la tent resources has given birth that we are now dealing. We say that it is very foolish for Southern Californians to go to Tacoma and Seattle at present expecting to repeat the story of the Los Angeles real-estate boom. The figures quoted by the correspondent referred to show that the game is too fa advanced. In Los Angeles, a city of 75,000 population-three times that of Tacoma-land and lots can be pur chased at one-third the prices men tioned.' The figures given may possibly be exaggerated, although, as stated, the writer of the letter is engaged in praising the country, but, making every possible allowance for exageration, it is evident that prices of real estate up there have reached a danger our sand, for the present, unwarranted inflation. When, further, we consider the advantages of our climate as compared with the rains and fogs of the Washington coast, and salve remember that Loe Angeles has an easy lead in this section, while several cities within a few miles are struggling for supremacy on the Sound, it must be admitted with a several that the inducements offered for investment in Los Angeles property, at present low prices, are ten to one, as compared with those presenting them selves up north.

ENGLISH RECOGNITION.

Europe has been very slow to recognize the growing importance of the United States in the affairs of the world. This is partly due to ignorance and partly to a disinclination to concede that the United States can ever become a factor in the world's politics. It is only lately, and especially the success of this country in the Sa moan conference, that occasional recognitions of our proper standing have been made in the European press. They are still far from common, for which reason the following noteworthy observations from the London Specta tor are worth reproducing:

No State, however powerful, will ever again do with ease anything to which the American Republic is strongly opposed. There is not a diplomatist in Europe who does not know this, or who does not hold that Napoleon III. was only sane in quitting Mexico, and that Prince Bismarck showed his wisdom when, rather than quarrel seriously with Washington, he abandoned all pretensions in Samoa. Regarded from the point of view of diplomatists, it is because of her American alliance that the legislative independence of Ireland would be dangerous to Great Britain—so dangerous that we rather wonder Mr. viladstone. unlike most of his subordinates, did tor are worth reproducing:

not take pains to avoid showing how desply his Irish leadership makes him feet the ever-growing strength and irresistibleness of the Union. It was of that he thought when he pointed out that already Great Britain was surpassed in population by the Republic, as a century hence Europe, as a whole, probably will also be.

ICERYA REDIVIVA

S. J. Mathes is of opinion that the communication in The Times, some weeks ago, warning persons whose orchards had been cleared of the white cottony cushion scale to be on the lookout for their existence in the soil, was very pertinent. The writer of the warning suggested that the earth should be removed from the trunk of warning the tree, that the scalebug's enemy, the vedolia cardinalis, might be able to reach every possible hiding-place of the pest. Mr. Mathes followed this advice, and also dug about the roots, the result being that one day this week when showing a visitor how the scale had been exterminated, he stirred up a nest sufficient to populate the entire city again. Mr. Mathes writes:

feed runs short it quickly folds its tent and departs in search of better pasture. It evidently does its work too quickly to be thorough. I also found live scale on a flowering plant in my yard—a zenta—where I had watched the progress of the vedolta in destroying them two months since. It is a wise and necessary provision for our safety that the vedolta be colonized and propagated until all danger from the terrya is past, as, judging from my experience, much of the work will have to be done over again.

Most excellent character sketch of "Jonah," He does with it all that the author can possibly expect, and more than the opportunities of the piece seem, at first sight, to afford. His performance was, in fact, the best artistic effort of the evening, and is well worth seeing for its own sake alone. There is a lack of good singing in the piece, but there is quite a crowd of people who go through all the recognized business for raising a series of laughs, and are uniformly successful in their endeavors. Miss Flora Walsh makes a pretty and agile "Baggage," and while her voice is not strong, her acting is very pleasing, and her dancing graceful as a fairy.

The French journal Le Temps, commenting on the proposed location of our world's fair in Chicago, remarks:

"We wonder how many Chicagoans who crossed the ocean to visit the exposition in the first city of France would have taken the same trouble if the show had been held in Lyons, our second city of importance."

We would inform our French contemporary that, while Paris comes very near to being France, New York is not the United States, by a very long way.

The success of San Bernardino's citrus fruit exposition, to be held in New York in January, is said to be assured. Among the attractions promised are 100,000 oranges, lemons and limes, and a bearing orange grove in midwinter. within harbors, lakes and inland waters of the United States.

The discussion was based upon the "Revised International Rules and Regulations for Preventing Collisions at Sea," contained in the circular issued by the United States Treasury Department in September, 1887. This was adopted at the suggestion of the American delegates as the basis for action, because it was in convenient shape, and afforded a good starting point. Votes upon suggestions or propositions of changes are seldom taken, for the reason that after the regulations shall have been thoroughly discussed, they will be put into shape for final acceptance by the committee appointed for that purpose, which will be guided in its work by the expressions of the conference.

Stock Operations.

San Francisco, Oet. 17.—R. H. McDonald commenced suit against Senator Leland Stanford today to recover the value of 25 shares of Central Pacific Railway stock, eertificates of which, it is alleged, came into possession of defendant unlawfully. These are certificates which Mrs. Clara Belle McDonald sold to Senator Stanford two years ago, and on account of which a sharge of perjury was made against her.

In his complaint McDonald gives the value of the 25 shares as $1,221,000. Speaking of this Senator Stanford said tonight: "The stock for which McDonald would have me pay this enormous sum of money is not worth on the market more than $35 or $40 a share, and at the outside $1000 would be a large valuation to put upon it." are certificates which Mrs. Clars of Athletics-New Build-ings-Other Notes. University, Oct. 17.—[Correspondence of The Times.] Some at least of the students and professors evidently do not propose to let their brainwork be carried on at the ex-pense of the muscles. The old foot-ball ground has had to be abandoned owing to the erection upon it of Mrs. Wheeler's house, but the students have fitted up the common across Hough avenue, and the first practice game has already been played. The old tennis court near the music build-ing has also been cleared and rolled, Prof. Whitted has a new court at his place, and another has just been laid out at Mr. Whitlock's. This is as it

Mrs. Cool is about to move her house, corner Jefferson street and Wesley avenue, onto the lot next to Knauff's bakery, and to erect where her house now stands a fine business block, containing six stores. It is said that the building will cost $6000 or more. This new move indicates what University Place must inevitably be in the future—the popular residence portion and sub-new move indicates what University Place mustinevitably be in the future—the popular residence portion and suburb of Los angeles. The movement of the city's growth is confessedly in this direction, and we doubt not that all the stores about to be built will find occupants without long waiting.

Now that Wesley avenue is being gravelled, would it not be well to grade the gutter from Simpson street to Agricultural Park? If we are to avoid the ugly ponds and the disease-breeding stagnation that was so offensive to the community last year, something should be done at once.

The exact registration in the college, exclusive of students in music and art, is 155.

The boarding club starts out with two good cooks and 10 boarders.

The new departure of the Coöperation Association in buying books through its own agent seems to be a success. By saving the profits that usually go to middle-men, students are getting their books at from 5 to 25 per cent. discount.

The music in the church is greatly improving. The organ is presided over by Miss Stagg, and reinforced by an orchestra of two violins and two horns. It is hoped that a chorus choir will now be permanently organized and thoroughly trained. Miss Breed has offered to train such a choir free of charge.

An association of music students called the Overtone, has lately been organized for the purpose of reading music biography, etc. The club is now reading the life of Mendelssohn. At its next meeting the works of this composer are to be illustrated by piano selections by Mrs. Coe and songs by Miss Breed.

REDONDO.

The New Hotel a Fine Structure—Detailed Description.

REDONDO, Oct. 16.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] By the courtesy of Capt. and Mrs. Ainsworth I was shown over the new hotel last Tues the plans and arrangement of details begin to show something of their elegance and beauty. The ladies' parlors, smoking-room, billiard-room and office all open upon a large lobby, and the effect of the vistas will be beautiful when the rooms are finished and furnished. The halls, dining-room, furnished. The halls, dining-room, children's dining, ladies' ordinary, ballroom, suites, kitchen, storage-rooms, laundry and servants' quarters complete the lower story.

The ballroom floor is to be finished in mosale of different colors of oak, and will have a balcony for observers and non-dancers.

The dining-room is something of a four-leaf clover shape, and has an exposure to both morning and afternoon sunshine. The mantel-piece for this room will cost over $300. The three southern L's afford beautiful, cheery rooms, with all manner of alcoyes and rooms, with all manner of alcoves and rooms, with all manner of alcoves and cozy nooks and corners. Nearly all the suites have bay-windows, and all suites on the first and second floors have grates. There are 140 sleeping-rooms, and over 200 rooms in all. A large area between the ball-room and north L, with an eastern exposure, will be cemented and ornamented with flowers and fountains. Protected on the west by the hotel, on the north and south by L's, this will make a most delectable, sunshiny spot for invalids, children, gossipers, or dreamy people to watt themselves upon soft airs and the distant sounds of ocean symphonies, into the enchantments of an "Araby the Blest."

Winding balconies around the front afford a full sweep of vision of all upon the floor, and the effect from either excremity is graceful and diverting.

The upper hall is 300 feet long, broad, bright and begulling to promenaders. The suites on either side are of great variety of arrangement. In one room an alcove window looks too cozy to be refused, in another an oriole looks so graceful and antique that it claims an equal admiration; and all of the differences make each one seem more inviting. The rooms on the third floor are equally pretty, some very odd ones being formed by the mansard roof. A circular, high stone wall surrounding the court, area and L's, and tapering down to the ground level on the sides, completes the dimensions. The outside walls are finished in stucco work. At the back of the court an engine is to be placed for the purpose of running At the back of the court an engine is to be placed for the purpose of running a dynamo to supply electricity for iris and incandescent lights for the hotel grounds and pier.

NO MORE SMOKE mprovement in the Seventh street

The residents at and about the Seventh street power house his suffered considerable inconvenies during the past six months from th immense volumes of black s which poured from the chimney Superintendent J. C. Robinson had ex pected that the Hazelton tripod boiler combined with the Roney mechanical stoker and smokeless furnace, would have reduced the smoke to a minimum; but owing to the impossibility of obtaining anthracite coal, except at a great expense, and the inadaptability of the enamel coal obtained on this coast to the automatic grating, the desired results were not obtained. Mr. Hoadley, the constructing engineer, has been devising a means to overcome the difficulty for some weeks past, and by making several alterations in the internal arrangements of the furnace, he has succeeded in effecting a complete consumption of the smoke. Yesterday avery thin volume of white smoke, or rather steam, was the only sign that the furnaces were in action, and the cable company must be congratulated on the satisfactory solution to a very serious problem.

A Canada Escapade-Local Intellience-Gone Before-Brevitles-Social Notes-Condensed News-Those Weeds-Personal Mention.

PASADENA, Oct. 17 .- [Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Arthur Thrall came into town this afternoon from La Cañada and had a warrant sworn out for the arrest of a rancher who lives in that peaceful settlement. Yesterday afternoon a son of Thrall's was ng over a piece of ground owned crossing over a piece of ground owned by the farmer, when, without warning, it, is said, the rancher discharged the contents of a gun at the boy. The charge grazed his arm, the load only passing through the sleeve of the shirt. A constable left for the scene of the shooting at a late hour. There is much feeling among the denizens of that elevated village against the rancher, who, it is claimed, had no reason for his attempted murderous assault.

THOSE WEEDS. THOSE WEEDS.

Just four-fifths of the property covered with an obnoxious growth of weeds is owned by outside parties.
The industrious man who endeavors to cultivate his lot is rewarded by the to cultivate his lot is rewarded by the deadly destruction of his products by the little mischief maker—the cutworm. Since the Coungil has deemed the prudent that hedges should be trimmed, and trees carefully pruned, what is there to prevent that body from incorporating in such an ordinance a provision that all nuisances in nance a provision that all nuisances in the shape of deadly and offensive weeds must be rooted up by the owner of said lot at his own expense, and, if he cannot be found, why not charge it up to the property? The day should be not far distant when every citizen could rise up and call him blessed who has had the foresight to cultivate his weed patch into a blossoming garden. PERSONAL.

BANTA MONICA

Exciting Capture of a Ten-foot Shark—The Pilot-fish. SANTA MONICA, Oct. 17.—[Corre-spondence of THE TIMES.] When the SANTA MONICA, Oct. 17.—[Correspondence of The Times.] When the fishermen began to haul in the North Beach seine, under the direction of Manager Frank Ellis, yesterday afternoon, they found by the weight in their net that they had made an unusual catch. The prize was nothing in their pockets, however, for when the seine finally came ashore it was found to be occupied by a huge hammerhead shark. There was quite a tussle before the monster was killed, and when he was laid out and measured it was found that from tip to tip he was 10 feet 3 inches long. In his gills was found one of the famous pilot-fish, which go shead of sharks and locate food for them. This guide is seldom more than four inches long, and when trouble begins he seeks protection in his patron's gills.

The Santa Monica Outlook has entered upon its fifteenth year. The popularity of its editor, Mr. Fisher, has done much to sustain and make prosperous the paper, which is an intelligent expenent of all matters relating to the town.

THE 18rd OF OCTOBER IN HISTORY.

Gen. Lane marched from Puebla, Mexico, in October, 1847, to attack Gen. Rea of Santa Ana's army at ATLIXCO, 30 miles from that place. Lane's cavalry first encountered Rea's rear guard on October 18th, when skirmishing was kept up till the main body arrived. The Mexicans then fell back to Atlixco, maintaining a running fight all the way. Their main body was encountered less than two miles from Atlixco. A division of cavalry dashed in among them and drove the enemy into a thick chapparal, into which the horses could not enter, upon which the cavalrymen dismounted, rushed into the thicket and, after a long and fierce hand-to-hand condict, drove them out of the chapparal. The rest of the American army coming up, the Mexicans ifed into the town, when Lane's artillery, which was posted in a hill commanding the place, opened a furious bombardment by moonfight. The Mexicans fied with great Tos. At Allixco Santa Ana's troops deserted him, and he fied alone to the coast. Such was the last battle, and thus ended the active military operations of the Mexican war.

On the 18th of October 1826, the LAST STATE LOTTERY was drawn in England. The ceremony took place in Cooper's Hall, Basinghall street; and although the public attraction to this last of a long series of legalized swindles was excessive, and sufficient to inconveniently crowd the hall, means, ordinary and extraordinary, had been resorted to as an inducement to the public to 'try their luck' for the last time. By this abolition of lotteries, the Government lost an annual revenue of £300,000, but it was deemed expedient to abolish an institution which caused so much poverty among the people. None therefore, mourned over the decesse of the lottery, except the lottery office-keepers, a large body of men who rented expensive offices in all parts of England.

Although Rene Antoine Ferchault de Reaumer, who was born the lottery office-keepers, a large body of men who rented expensive offices in all parts of England.

Although Rene Antoine Ferchault de Realmer, who was born in 1683, and died October 18, 1757, rendered great services to France, he is known to posterity only by his thermometer, that is to say, by his mode of graduating thermometers, a very small thing in itself. He took the freezing and boiling points of water as two fixed points, and divided the interval with 80°, the freezing point being zero. Reaumer's life was one long scientific investigation. Geometrical speculations; the strength of cordage; the development of the shell of testaceous animals; the coloring matter of turquoise gems; the manufacture of iron, steel and porcelain; artificial incubation; the imitating of the famous purple dye of the ancients; the graduation of thermometers; the reproduction of the claws of lobsters and crabs; the instincts and habits of insects—all, in turn, engaged the attention of this acute and industrious man, and all furnished him with means of increasing the sum-total of human knowledge. Great as were the scientific labors of Fahrenheit, his thermometric scale is the only thing for which he is now remembered, and the same remark is equally true of Reaumer. Had not the scales of these two investigators come into use in England and on the continent, their names would now be forgotten.

into use in England and on the continent, their names would now be forgotten.

Prince Eugene de Savoy, the celebrated imperial General, was a grandson of the Duke of Savoy, and born in Paris October 18, 1663. Having applied to Louis XIV. for the command of a regiment, it was refused him, and Eugene, burning with resentment, offered his services to Emperor Leopold of Germany, by whom they were accepted. He took part in the war against the Turks, was rapidly promoted, and in 1691 became a field marshal, but Eugene rejected this offer. The War of the Spanish Succession opening, Eugene was given command in Italy, where he achieved a signal success over the French army. In conjunction with the Duke of Mariborough, he won the battle of Blenheim in 1704, and participated in the victories of Oudenarde in 1708 and Malplaquet in 1709. His last services were rendered against the Turks, whom he completely defeated at Belgrade in 1717. Prince Eugene died in 1738.

October 18th in the ecclesiastical calendar is consecrated to Sr. Luke, the evangelist, the biographer and companion of St. Paul, and who during the middle ages came to be regarded as the patron of painters and fine arts. He is usually represented in a seated position, writing or painting, whils behind him appears the head of an ox, frequently winged. This symbol has been associated with him, to quote the words of an ancient writer. "Because Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendenty to coutract a fresh cold. Indeed he declared he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another; and he is always exceedingly earful. It is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and the throat.

At times many of the symptoms of catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease it is soon what changed in its character, and has extended to the throat. A sense of wearines is sometimes feit in the throat of it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes an other symptoms cocur after the disease and other symptoms cocur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this point the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts be will "by and by recover. But his delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cameter. The great danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs, in most causes a arge share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh of ozoens, there are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant.
